

On Friday, June 22 at 10:30 a.m., I'll host a free Senior Forum at the Monroe Township Public Library to hear directly from you about Social Security and Medicare. I look forward to answering your questions about how these programs work, how they can work more effectively, and how they can be protected against attacks in Washington.

Max Richtman, the president and CEO of the National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare, also will attend and answer questions.
