

Washington – U.S. Representative Rush Holt (NJ-12) will host two listening sessions next week to talk about issues of concern to Central New Jersey residents, including the economy, health care, education, and national security.

On Monday, January 25 at 7 p.m., Holt will host an in-person town hall in Marlboro at the Marlboro Memorial Middle School. The school is located at 71 Nolan Road in Marlboro.

On Tuesday, January 26 at 7:45 p.m, Holt will hold a live telephone town hall meeting. To join the call, residents can complete a web form on the front page of holt.house.gov.

“As a representative, I continue to hear the concerns of Central New Jersey residents and work to address their needs, study their issues, and get solutions that ensure fairness and promote opportunity. Holding town hall meetings, in person and over the phone, is one way to stay in touch,” Holt said.
