Over the last year, the debate in Congress has been far-reaching. The House majority has proposed – and I have fought against – drastic cuts to Medicare, public safety programs, higher education, and other programs that New Jersey families depend on, rather than focusing on what should be our top priority: job creation. Congress has also voted on a number of issues of particular importance to our area, including FEMA aid to help our community recover from Hurricane Irene.

I hope you can join us to share your views on these and any other issues that you may have concerns about.

To help us plan for the event, you are encouraged to RSVP in advance by completing the form below.
