At what point in the visa application process is the applicant? (e.g. Has an application been submitted? Has an appointment for an interview been set? Has an application already been denied?)

What ties to the home country can the applicant demonstrate? (e.g. Is he/she married? Does he/she own a home or have a good job? Do his/her parents and/or siblings still live there?) Please answer with as much detail as the Department of State seeks compelling evidence that each visitor is not an intending immigrant.

Thank you.
